Your gift giver feels strongly about preserving today's environment and sustaining it for future generations. This Green Gift Certificate makes it easier for you to also become part of the solution.

GreenDisk is the leader in technotrash recycling and reuse. We started on Earth Day 1992 as a service to the software, music and movie industries who wanted to protect both their content and our environment. But these days everyone with a computer or a VCR is a "publisher" (whether they want to be or not). And everyone has a closet or storage area full of tapes, computer components, and other electronic waste.

So, we have expanded our services to include organizations and individuals. GreenDisk offers:

- ◆ an "industrial strength" recycling solution available to you at home or at work
- ◆ recycling services with the convenience of easy ordering and easy pickup
- ◆ acceptance of a wide range of mixed technotrash (from a CD to a PC)
- ◆ the secure destruction of all information on any media
- ◆ products made from the materials you recycle

Everyone has a right to protect the content inside their e-media. For over 15 years, GreenDisk has specialized in the secure destruction of information on all electronic media such as CDs, DVDs, and video tapes and also produced a line of high quality recycled office supplies and media accessories. We figured that we should do our part - after all you are the one doing the recycling. And we thank you for it.

Thank you for recycling and for making GreenDisk part of your environmental effort
